Professor Saul Galin
Department of English
Brooklyn College
Brooklyn 10, New York

Dear Mr. Galin:

I am lost in admiration of your program and I should, of course, like to be helpful in any way I can. You don't need me to tell you that your statement about North American ignorance of Latin American writing is a very conservative estimate of our inadequacies in that direction. And your Advisory Board seems to me particularly well chosen - especially in the Latin American area. I am sure you know all about Maud Lee of the State Department who has long been my guide and mentor in Latin American matters, but if you aren't in close touch with her, you should be. I doubt that my name will be of any value to you in your project but if you think it will be you may certainly use it.

Faithfully yours,

Archibald MacLeish
